

Pam Walton's Sacramento Premiere - "Gay Youth"

Gay and lesbian youth are at great risk in our culture: The Report on Youth Suicide, which was published in 1989, found that of all suicides committed each year by people between the ages of 15 and 24, fully 30% are gay and lesbian youth. This group of young people suffers extreme isolation and is especially vulnerable to drug and alcohol abuse, homelessness, and physical and verbal violence.

"Gay Youth" is a forty-minute video documentary that has been designed to help break the silence surrounding adolescent homosexuality. It contrasts the suicide death of 20-year old Bobby Griffith with the remarkable and courageous life of 17-year old Gina Gutierrez, pictured above with filmmaker Pam Walton. The video in its entirety shows that information, acceptance, and support can make enormous differences in the lives of these young people.

Plus a Special Double Feature - "Out in Suburbia"

Not only will Pam show us her award-winning film about lesbians, but she will bring with her several women who were in the film to talk about how their lives have changed because of it. Don't miss this rare opportunity to see and hear, from the inside, a film about us. Join SACWN for dinner, movies, and help us give the filmmaker a warm Sacramento welcome and support for her work. An event for women age 21 and over.

A Message from the Steering Committee

SACWN has decided to solicit proposals for professional association management services. As many of you know, we have in the past contracted with a variety of providers for various pieces of the work that SACWN requires to function. Linda Killick has provided administrative support, several others have done parts of the newsletter, still others production of events, Board training, etc. Also all through the organization has been the critical element of volunteers, putting on many events, filling all the gaps we could, and trying to coordinate as best womanly possible.

We are now at a juncture in our growth where we must operate from a single, coordinated source in order to keep up the level of services that we have come to expect - and that we deserve - from our organization. We on the Steering Committee are excited about this prospect and confident that this step will take SACWN forward in growthful new directions for the future. While we expect many volunteers to continue to be our strength, we believe supportive management services are the key to focussing and fully utilizing that volunteer energy and simultaneously getting the day-to-day functioning and long-range planning accomplished.

Please spread the word and encourage any firms or individuals you know experienced in meeting planning, association management, and administrative services to submit a proposal. See the Notice re Requests for Proposals on page five for further details.

Also in this issue is a special financial report from Jane Irwin discussing the last fiscal year. Please reflect on these financial realities when considering the pricing of events and the need for volunteers to keep things going beyond bare minimums. Thanks for your continued feedback and support!

Special Interest Groups -- September

Hope all you S.I.G. members had a good summer. Is it fall already? Call me if you have a suggestion for other new S.I.G. groups. It seems like some of our long-time S.I.G.s are winding down energy-wise, so we have lots of space for new ones.

For those members who faithfully read this column, we really appreciate your interest in S.I.G.s. If you have a couple of extra hours a month to donate to SACWN programs or to our newsletter, please check our "Volunteer Board" in this newsletter. We value your input about different types of programs or activities you'd like SACWN to be doing.

Ellie Zacks 967-3513

BRIDGE

Free bridge lessons will be starting in September. Call Suzy at 1-678-3581. Regular games this month are September 13 at Joyce and Lydia's and September 27 at Suzy's, both at 4 pm. Call hostess by Wednesday if you plan to attend.

GOLF

We're not sure what golfers are doing this summer but they haven't called Judy to play. Maybe with cooler weather, there will be more interest. Call Judy, 339-1785.

SOCIAL CONNECTION

Joan, 795-1336

LATE-BLOOMERS

The Late Bloomers will be meeting Wednesday, September

9 at New Helvetia for conversation. It's never too late to become a late-bloomer! We'd love to meet you. Call Susan at 641-1887.

CULTURE CLUB

It appears this group may be running out of steam. Any suggestions or comments, call Ann, 927-6038. Only your input can make a difference.

TOP TEN

A new facilitator is needed for this group. Call Ellie, 967-3513 for information.

Jody or Jean, 758-6746

OUTINGS

We have been taking hikes every couple of weeks this summer and coordinating with the hiking group. Call Nancy, 452-6007 or 454-5847.

RAINBOW CAMPERS

Rainbow Campers had a great summer. We've had different campers go to Napa, Coloma, Calaveras Big Trees and Samuel P. Taylor Campground. Saturday evenings we've had potlucks and lots of singing and sharing around the campfire. We arrange our trips (distance-wise) so that we can get to the area on Friday evening so by Saturday we're ready for snacks and dinner. One thing about camping is that we sure pig out on the potlucks.

Coming up is the Women's Festival over Labor Day and Bullard's Bar on September 25 and 26 (date change). Join us for lots of fun. Call Jayne, 921-6642.

WOMEN SURVIVING BREAKUP

This group has been discontinued due to lack of interest.

THE RELATIONSHIP FORUM

We have topics for singles and for couples. Join us as we discuss ideas from the "experts". For dates and times, call Sandy, 933-0670.

WOMEN'S WORDS (formerly PLAY-READING)

We're advertising for another month to see if there's enough interest to start this group up again. Call Lenora, 444-0102.

BASKETBALL

We are playing once a week in the evenings. Call Maggie, 456-1420 for time and location.

NEWCOMERS

This group welcomes anyone new to SACWN or Sacramento, plus those who prefer a smaller group for getting acquainted with other SACWN members. We get together for dinner once a month. For more details, call Nancy, 454-5847.

Protecting Your Lesbian Family Unit

by Eileen Gillis, Attorney at Law

Lesbians cannot marry in the United States, and as a result are denied all the legal benefits afforded married couples - e.g. tax and employment benefits, insurance and health care coverage, probate designations and inheritance rights, dissolution guidelines, spousal testimonial privileges, support and visitation rights, and family authority in medical emergencies.

In efforts to overcome this legal disability, lesbians have been forced to use legal fictions to secure marital benefits, such as domestic partnership contracts, domestic partnership ordinances, becoming a non-profit association, durable powers of attorney, wills, trusts and Totten trusts. Although these alternatives fail to provide a complete remedy and in many jurisdictions are unenforceable, they provide at least some protection.

A few of the options lesbians in a committed relationship should consider to protect themselves and their significant others are:

Contracts

Same-sex couples can use contracts to regulate their financial and personal relationships, drafting written terms to formally establish their current rights and responsibilities. Courts then refer to these instruments for guidance about property division on dissolution and can legally enforce the contract terms.

Domestic Partnership

In general, domestic partnership ordinances require unmarried applicants to meet certain eligibility requirements and to register with the city. Benefits afforded most often include the right to hospital visitation and extension of bereavement leave to city workers. Often city employees use Domestic Partnership Ordinances to collectively bargain for extended rights that married employees already have, such as health benefits, sick and maternity leave, property and life insurance and pension rights. Some private employers, like Levi Strauss and Lotus Corporation, also now provide their employees with similar benefits.

Although these alternatives fail to provide a complete remedy and in many jurisdictions are unenforceable, they provide at least some protection.

Durable Powers of Attorney

Durable power of attorney authorizes one person to literally act as an attorney-in-fact for the other and to make specific decisions upon incapacity, such as depositing and withdrawing money from bank accounts, selling real property, and providing for support of the principle dependents. Another form of durable power of attorney authorizes the attorney-in-fact to consent, refuse, or withdraw consent for health care procedures needed by the principle.

Wills and Trusts

For a same-sex partner to bequeath anything to her partner she must execute a will or a trust unless the assets are held in joint ownership.

A will is a person's declaration of how she desires her property to be disposed of after death. A will may also contain other declarations of the testator's desires such as what she wants for her children, so long as it is coupled with directions distributing some property.

A trust is also a very versatile, effective, and efficient tool for estate planning. A trust is essentially a contract in which the trustee agrees with the person creating the trust, the trustor, to manage and ultimately distribute the trustor's assets to the intended beneficiaries in accordance with the trustor's wishes.

Joint Tenancy and Tenancy in Common

Joint tenancy is a very popular tool used by same-sex couples as a part of their estate planning efforts. Joint tenancy can be used for almost any asset and its creation is economical, efficient and not very difficult. Joint tenants hold an interest together in a single property, be it real or personal property, and both have an equal right to share in its use and enjoyment. In this way, joint tenancy bears a marked similarity to the benefits afforded married couples by community property. The primary benefit of joint tenancy is the right of survivorship, by which the entire asset on the death of any joint tenant goes to the survivor.

Successful SACWNITES

Our busy event producer Rosanna Herber has scored another success in obtaining her new job as Community Relations Specialist with SMUD. Rosanna will be working closely with Director David Freeman on community projects and programs. She reports already feeling challenged in her new job which is making her stretch and grow.

Rosanna is also ecstatic to report that another SACWNITE, Andrea Jackson, has just been hired to take over her old job as Administrative Assistant to Kim Mueller's successor on the City Council, Council member Darrell Steinberg.

Congratulations Rosanna and Andrea !!!

SACWN Co-sponsors Free Board Training

Speakers are now lined up for the workshop on board training, "Political Appointments for Women," to be held Saturday, September 12 from 9 am - noon in the Sacramento County Board of Supervisors' Chambers, 700 H Street. Due to donations by SACWN and other member groups of COSWO (the Coalition of Sacramento Women's Organizations), New Helvetia, Greta's, and American Bran Stand, muffins and coffee will be served and the workshop will be available to the community at no charge.

Mayor elect Joe Serna and Supervisor Sandra Smoley will provide opening remarks, followed by City Council member Heather Fargo and representatives from the County Board of Supervisors and a joint city/county commission on how to get appointed. A United Way trainer and a past County Planning Commission member will train participants on being effective as appointees. The training will also include a primer on parliamentary procedure and how to use it. Thereafter, detailed information on all City and County Boards and Commissions will be made available.

To register or obtain additional information, please call Margo Fowkes at 985-3327.

In contrast, a tenancy in common is a form of ownership where each owner holds an undivided interest in property which does not terminate upon death and, absent a will, is passed on to surviving relatives rather than the co-owner.

Totten Trust

A Totten trust is a bank account established by a depositor who describes herself as trustee for another. During the depositor's lifetime, the trust is fully revocable, but on death, the account is payable to the named beneficiary. The purpose of a Totten trust is to create a simple and efficient testamentary substitute which is statutorily recognized in most states. The benefit is that it will avoid probate and is immediately accessible by the surviving partner after death.

Life Insurance

Life insurance also provides a vehicle for same-sex partners to provide their lovers with cash assets upon death. Life insurance provides a benefit arising from an agreement by the insurer to give the insured, for a consideration, money in the event of death.

Consider these alternatives to protect your relationship. If you do not plan ahead, the state will determine for you how to distribute your assets during your life and upon death.

1991-92 Financial Report

The 1991-92 Fiscal Year was not a great financial year for SACWN. Our membership is down by over 100 members and our events produced very little revenue. If it had not been for the JoAnne Loulan event in January we would have ended up losing money on the events we sponsored. We realize that last year was not a good financial year for many, due to poor overall economic conditions, but we still feel we must turn SACWN around this coming year.

We did cut back on administrative services, reduced the cost of producing our Newsletter and increased Ad rates. Even with the increase in Ad rates our Newsletter and Directory cost SACWN over $525.

Fortunately, since we had a tax refund from our 1990-91 fiscal year and earned over $450 interest on our savings account, SACWN closed out the fiscal year with approximately the same amount of cash reserves as when we started the year.

Needless to say this trend cannot continue if SACWN is to remain the viable organization it has been.

It seems that the needs of our membership are changing. Dances used to be our big source of revenue. Now we are just breaking even or making $100 or $200. On one dance we actually lost money. We used to have from 250 to 375 attend our dances, but now we are lucky if we get 125-175. The fixed expenses for sponsoring a dance — room rental, refreshments, music and dance floor — remain the same whether 100 or 500 attend. The prices for each of these fixed expenses continue to increase each year.

We have lowered ticket prices and we have increased ticket prices.....attendance seems to remain the same, regardless of the price. When we did lower the price, we usually lost money.

Your steering committee is looking at several options to see how we might turn our financial condition into a more positive light. We feel strongly, as we are sure you do, that there is a real need for SACWN in our community.

We appreciate your continued support and look forward to hearing your ideas and any suggestions you may have for us.
